The Unifying Alliance of Professional Associations in Australia

Communique

We the participants of the inaugural National Summit on Micro-Credentials & Accreditation:

- Recognise that job convergence and technology is changing the future of work
- Acknowledge the opportunities that Micro-Credentials can play in capability development and recognition globally of professionals
- Note that 'micro signals' of achievement of capability aligned with dimensions of workplace practice are in demand by employers and professionals
- Recognise that Micro-Credentials require validation just like traditional degrees and credentials
- Commit to continual improvement of the accreditation processes to minimise any duplication and the overall administrative burden to support a quality tertiary system, and
- Agree to continue to work collaboratively with all stakeholders build a world-competitive tertiary education system
